

Teaming Up for Character

In the last three years more than 10,000 area youth have participated in character events in conjunction with the Buffalo Funds– NAIA Division I Men’s Basketball National Championship.

Students who participate in the Champions of Character initiative, walk away with the understanding of how the values can assist them on the field of athletic competition and in life.

This year the NAIA plans to reach out to more students in effort to spread the Champions of Character initiative. Your support ensures that this innovative program will continue to impact Kansas City youth and change the culture of sport.

During the tournament, students have the opportunity to visit with the NAIA student-athletes to learn more about their universities, athletes’ academic interests and the role of the student-athlete. They participate in an NAIA Champions of Character educational discussion about the five core character values and attend the championship basketball games.

Respect

Treating others the way you want to be treated

Responsibility

The social force that binds me to the good of the team

Sportsmanship

Following the rules, spirit and etiquette of athletic competition

Servant Leadership

Serving the greater good while focusing on the team’s mission and purpose

INTEGRITY RESPECT RESPONSIBILITY SPORTSMANSHIP SERVANT LEADERSHIP

By Teaming Up for Character, your contribution ensures that the cornerstone of this program is being taught to your community's youth.

When student-athletes from the greater Kansas City area attend the NAIA Men's National Basketball Tournament, they will watch incredible action on the court and experience incredible character instruction off of it.

They receive instruction on the five core values of the Champions of Character process. They walk away with the understanding of how integrity, respect, responsibility, sportsmanship and servant leadership can assist them on the field of athletic competition and in life.

Please support our area's youth by teaming up for character.
